Dear Welsh Government,

I wrote to you yesterday to urge you to consider using off-shore wind farms and invest in Tidal Technology to produce all the renewable energy you need without having to lay waste vast swathes of your beautiful country side.

Now I have just been told that the National Marine Plan has been published, which much makes the case much more authoritatively than I ever could.

Please have the good sense to look at the whole issue again in the light of its findings.
