Dear Mr George,      New Wind farm Proposals.

I am writing to you to ask that you bring my letter to the attention of the Welsh Assembly that they should not go ahead with this "presumed" consent for huge developments in Mid-Wales.

The work will destroy the ecology of this area and is likely to make flooding down stream worse with the run-off from the hills. I understood that the bases for these pylons are deep and besides disturbing the peat, it will fill the holes with concrete which is extremely bad for the environment. The actual construction sites and continued maintenance will be damaging to the wildlife of the area.

I also understand that many countries (including England) are not investing so heavily in this type of work. The wind is never constant and water powered generation should be considered first.

Wales is a small country and all of its land should be protected from this kind of take-over. Land should be used more productively. As the population grows, we will need the food. Whilst people will have to work hard where-ever to make a living, they are entitled to leisure activities in the peaceful countryside not in an industrialised landscape.

I consider that the Welsh Assembly's tactics in taking this action as not to be democratic as they were told very clearly several years ago what we thought of their earlier proposals.

I hope that you also can support this letter asking the Assembly to withdraw their plans for new wind farms in Mid-Wales.

Yours Sincerely

Mrs. Ann Lawrence.
