Background

The student support regulations set out the regulatory requirements for an undergraduate or postgraduate course, provided by an institution or other provider, to be designated for the purpose of attracting statutory student support for eligible students who are ordinarily resident in Wales.

The student support regulations are:

- The Education (Student Support) (Wales) Regulations 2017, as amended
- The Education (Student Support) (Wales) Regulations 2018, as amended
- The Education (Student Support) (Postgraduate Master's Degrees) (Wales) Regulations 2019, as amended
- The Education (Postgraduate Doctoral Degree Loans) (Wales) Regulations 2018, as amended

There are two types of course designation:

- i) automatic designation
- ii) specific designation

The information below sets out the conditions for a higher education course to be automatically designated. If you require further information on specific designation and how to apply, this can be found within SFWIN 08/2020 Policy for specific course designation.

A course is only automatically designated (and attracts statutory student support) if the institution or other provider meets the requirement summarised in the section Institutions and other providers (where relevant) and satisfies the relevant conditions set out in the section designated courses.

The arrangements for the designation of courses may change in the future as a result of the Tertiary Education and Research \(Wales\) Act 2022.

Institutions and other providers

To be able to apply for Welsh Government Statutory Student Support, the student must be attending a Designated Course.

Institutions and other providers that want their higher education courses to be automatically designated, enabling access to student support for their students, need to have a fee and access plan in force as approved by the Higher Education Funding Council for Wales (or by the Commission for Tertiary Education and Research, from the 1 August 2024). This does not include postgraduate courses which are not subject to a fee and access plan under the Higher Education \(Wales\) Act. Part-time courses are also not currently subject to the fee and access plan arrangements.

Under section 2 of the Higher Education (Wales) Act 2015 (“2015 Act”), a governing body of an institution in Wales that provides higher education, and is a charity, may apply to the Higher Education Funding Council for Wales for approval of a proposed fee and access plan relating to the institution.

Providers of higher education that may not regard themselves as an “institution” under the 2015 Act or who are uncertain about their status as an “institution”, may nevertheless wish for their higher education courses to be designated by student support regulations. As such they can make an application to Welsh Ministers to be designated as an institution for the purpose of making a fee and access plan application to the Higher Education Funding Council for Wales . Further information on the application process for providers to be designated as an ‘institution’ can be found within Guidance for applicants seeking to be designated as institutions for the purpose of the Higher Education \(Wales\)

Designated courses

Undergraduate courses: conditions

An undergraduate course is a designated course if it satisfies each of the following conditions:

- The course is one of the following:
 - a first degree course
 - a course for the Diploma of Higher Education
 - a Higher National Diploma (HND) or Higher National Certificate (HNC) course awarded by either the Business and Technology Education Council (BTEC) or the Scottish Qualification Authority (SQA)
 - a course for the certificate of Higher Education
 - a course for the initial training of teachers
 - a course for the further training of youth and community workers
 - a course in preparation for a professional examination of a standard higher than that of:
 - an examination at advanced level for the General Certificate of Education or at a higher level for the Scottish Certificate of Education
 - an examination for the National Certificate or the National Diploma awarded by BTEC or SQAso long as a first degree (or equivalent qualification) is not normally required for entry to the course.
 - a course providing education (whether or not in preparation for an examination) the standard of which is higher than that of a course mentioned above but not higher than that of a first degree course, and for entry to which a first degree (or equivalent qualification) is not normally required

- The course is either a full-time course, a sandwich course, or a part-time course
- The duration of the course is at least one academic year
- Where the course is a full-time course that began before 1 August 2019, it is provided:
 - by a Welsh regulated institution, a protected English provider, a Scottish funded institution or a Northern Irish funded institution (whether alone or in conjunction with an institution outside the United Kingdom)
 - by a charity on behalf of a Welsh regulated institution
 - on behalf of a protected English provider by an institution that was before 1 August 2019 a publicly funded institution
- Where the course is a full-time course that begins on or after 1 August 2019, it is provided by:
 - By a Welsh regulated institution, an English regulated institution, a Scottish funded institution or a Northern Irish funded institution (whether alone or in conjunction with an institution situated outside the United Kingdom)
 - a charity on behalf of a Welsh regulated institution (via a sub-contractual arrangement)
 - a registered English institution on behalf of an English plan provider (via a sub-contractual arrangement)
- Where the course is a part-time course that began before 1 August 2019, it is provided by an institution that before 1 August 2019 was a publicly funded institution (whether alone or in conjunction with an institution situated outside the United Kingdom)
- Where the course is a part-time course that begins on or after 1 August 2019, it is provided by:
 - a Welsh funded institution, a Scottish funded institution, a Northern Irish funded institution or an English regulated institution (whether alone or in conjunction with an institution situated outside the United Kingdom)

- a registered English institution on behalf of an English plan provider (via a sub-contractual arrangement)
- At least half of the teaching and supervision which comprise the course is provided in the United Kingdom
- The course leads to an award granted or to be granted by a body falling within section 214(2)(a) or (b) of the Education Reform Act 1988 unless the course is a Higher National Diploma or Higher National Certificate awarded by BTEC/SQA, or is an initial teacher training course

A definition of institutions is provided at Annex A. For the purposes of the above conditions:

- a course is provided by an institution if it provides the teaching and supervision which comprise the course, whether or not the institution has entered into an agreement with the student to provide the course
- a university and any constituent college, or constituent institution in the nature of a college, of a university is regarded as a recognised educational institution if either the university or the constituent college or institution is a recognised educational institution
- an institution is not regarded as a Welsh funded institution or a publicly funded institution by reason only that where the course began before the 1 August 2019, the institution was a connected institution (within the meaning of section 65(3B) of the Further and Higher Education Act 1992) which received a relevant payment before that date, or where the course begins on or after 1 August 2019, the institution is a connected institution which receives a relevant payment. A relevant payment is the whole or part of any grant, loan or other payment from the governing body of an institution which is provided to the connected institution in accordance with section 65(3A) of the Further and Higher Education Act 1992

However, a course is not a designated course if it is:

- a course taken as part of an employment-based teacher training scheme

(defined in student support regulations)

- a course where the governing body of a maintained school has arranged for the provision of the course to a pupil of the school

Postgraduate master's courses: conditions

A postgraduate master's course is a designated course if it satisfies each of the following conditions:

- The course leads to an award granted or to be granted by a body falling within section 214(2)(a) or (b) of the Education Reform Act 1988 and the teaching and supervision which comprise the course have been approved by that body
- The course is one of the following:
 - a full-time course of one or two academic years' duration
 - a part-time course which it is ordinarily possible to complete in up to four academic years
- The course is provided by:
 - a Welsh funded institution, a Scottish funded institution, a Northern Irish funded institution or an English regulated institution (whether alone or in conjunction with an institution within or outside the United Kingdom)
 - a registered English institution on behalf of an English plan provider (via a sub-contractual arrangement)
- At least half of the teaching and supervision which comprise the course is provided in the United Kingdom

For the purposes of the above conditions:

- a course is provided by an institution if it provides the teaching and supervision which comprise the course, whether or not the institution has entered into an agreement with the student to provide the course
- a university and any constituent college or institution in the nature of a falling within section 214(2)(a) or (b) of the Education Reform Act 1988, and the teaching and supervision which comprise the course has been approved by that body

For the purposes of the above conditions:

- a course is provided by an institution if it provides the teaching and supervision which comprise the course, whether or not the institution has entered into an agreement with the student to provide the course
- a course is substantially provided in the United Kingdom where at least half of the teaching and supervision which comprise the course is provided in the United Kingdom
- a university and any constituent college or institution in the nature of a college of a university is to be regarded as publicly funded if either the university or the constituent college or institution is publicly funded
- an institution is not regarded as a publicly funded institution or a Welsh funded institution by reason only that where the course began before 1 August 2019, it was a connected institution which received a relevant payment before that date, or where the course begins on or after 1 August 2019, it is a connected institution which receives a relevant payment
- a course is not to be regarded as provided on behalf of a publicly funded educational institution where a part of the course is provided by a private institution

However, a postgraduate doctoral course is not a designated course if it is recognised as a designated course under any of the other student support regulations.

courses to be able to apply for statutory student support are responsible for ensuring relevant courses are designated in accordance with the student support regulations before uploading them onto the Student Loans Company (SLC) Course Management System (CMS).

The CMS is a secure directory of higher education providers and the full-time and part-time undergraduate and postgraduate courses each provides. The CMS is integral to the Student Finance Wales application process and allows students to select their chosen course from the list of uploaded courses for the purposes of assessing their eligibility for statutory student support.

Important note

if courses do not satisfy the designation criteria but have been uploaded to the CMS, this will result in all student finance entitlement being withdrawn for those students who have linked their student finance application to such courses. This will place students into a financially difficult situation, they may be asked to repay any money paid to them and they may, as a consequence, withdraw from the course.

Further information on the CMS and how to upload a designated course can be found on SLC's Higher Education Provider Services Website.
