

Sent: 18 May 2021 12:00I can offer you the following comment at this stage:

A Welsh Government spokesperson said:

“We have followed the progress of universal basic income pilot projects around the world with interest and believe there is an opportunity to test the concept in Wales.

There is more work to be done in this area but we are interested in developing a small pilot, potentially involving people leaving care.”

Subject: Nub News press request: Wales' new UBI scheme

Hello Jane and team,

Would it be possible to have a comment about the Universal Basic Income scheme announced at the end of last week. We understand that overseeing the scheme will be part of the new Ministerial role.

What can residents expect from the scheme, when will it launch, how will it be a benefit to the country and its residents?

Many thanks in advance for your help,
