

Female Offending Implementation Plan

Improved partnership between devolved and non-devolved services to deliver justice in Wales is a shared priority of UK and Welsh Governments.

Thematic Area	Recommendation (milestone)	Action(s) include:	Refreshed Timescale	Update
Governance and System-Wide	Establish governance arrangements that enable the Women in Justice Programme to effectively deliver on strategic priorities and lead on development of new initiatives.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Development of Women in Justice Programme Brief & Ministry of Justice national concordat (following on publication of the MoJ Female Offending Strategy in summer 2018). Drawing on the expertise of the All Wales Women in Justice Group in establishing partnership & contract management meetings, & task & finish groups to take forward relevant actions, including the engagement of women with lived experience. Establish links with local boards across Wales to support delivery. 	Short-term (31.12.20)	COMPLETE <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Women in Justice Programme Brief produced and signed-off by the All-Wales Women in Justice Board in April 2019. Blueprint team has fed into the development of MoJ National Concordat (published 23rd January 2021) to ensure consideration of the Welsh delivery context. A review has been undertaken to ensure the Blueprint ambitions align with the Concordat. Agreed that in Wales, Concordat ambitions will be delivered through the Blueprint. Established governance, oversight and delivery arrangements for the Blueprint project in November 2019. The Blueprint is being delivered via 6 individual workstreams. Workstream activity is overseen by the Blueprint Project Board, which is aligned with the All-Wales Women in Justice Board, as the principal advisory group for women in the criminal justice system in Wales. Involvement model has been produced to inform approach to engaging women with lived experience in the design of key Blueprint deliverables. Criminal Justice Boards are represented at the All-Wales Women in Justice Board. Developed communications plan to support continued engagement with local boards and forums (February 2021). Highlight reporting in place between Female Blueprint and key forums including local criminal justice boards.
	Establish information sharing protocols and enablers that will support delivery of a Whole System Approach across each stage of the Criminal Justice System.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Identify opportunities to use technological enablers to develop an infrastructure that ensures effective sharing of information across organisations to support the effective management, supervision & support of women. Explore options for developing a passport to support which could travel with the woman on her journey through the Criminal Justice System. Develop & implement WASPI compliant information-sharing agreements where required. 	Long-term (31.03.23)	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> The Blueprint team has commenced engagement with the National Offender Management Multi Agency Data System (NOMADS) programme to explore opportunity to reflect the needs of women in the design of web based cross-sector case management system. Commenced testing of key features of an information passport through support for women, with a focus initially on sentencing stage. WASPI information sharing protocol in place for the Women's Pathfinder Whole System Approach (WSA) and 18-25 Early Intervention service in South Wales and Gwent.
	Review services for women who are perpetrators of VAWDASV in the CJS to ensure that they meet their specific needs and not duplicates of those offered to male perpetrators.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Work with VAWDASV to undertake scoping exercise to map current provision available for female perpetrators at all stages of the Criminal Justice System (including early intervention and prevention, community services and those serving a custodial sentence). 	Medium-term (31.03.22)	COMPLETE <ul style="list-style-type: none"> This recommendation has been transferred into the Community Sentences thematic area. Undertook exercise to map current service provision for female perpetrators of VAWDASV across Wales and identify recommendations/opportunities to address any gaps. A key recommendation from the mapping exercise highlighted the need

			for an IDVA/IDSA role to work specifically with women who are in prison and due to be resettled back into Wales. This role is due to commence in spring 2022. Wider delivery of recommendations will commence in 2022/23 financial year. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Blueprint project is actively linked in to the development work around the national VAWDASV strategy in Wales, and is identifying opportunities for joint focus in delivery priorities.
	Develop Communications Plan and materials to support sharing of information and awareness raising of the work of the programme going forward.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Publication of Female Offending Blueprint and Implementation Plan. • Develop and implement Women in Justice Summit event plan in conjunction with Clinks, PRT and Community Justice Cymru. • Work in partnership with successful provider of the Women's Pathfinder Whole System Approach and 18-25 Early Intervention Service to develop suite of communication materials to inform service users and stakeholders of what is being delivered. 	Short-term (31.12.20)	COMPLETE <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Female Offending Blueprint Implementation Plan published in May 2019. • 'Doing Things Differently: Supporting Women Away from Crime Summit' held on 10th October 2019. Produced write-up of key themes and learning from the event to help inform approach to Blueprint delivery. • Produced range of communications materials for the Women's Pathfinder Whole System Approach and 18-25 Early Intervention Service. Held a number of engagement sessions/events with key stakeholders to raise awareness of the Service including: a virtual visit to the Service by Deputy Minister & Chief Whip Jane Hutt MS (December 2020); and a One-Year On Webinar Event for partners (January 2021). • Communication with wider partner forums/boards across Wales (e.g. Community Safety Boards) in place via regular highlight reports (ongoing). • Updated communications materials produced in response to findings from the independent evaluation of the Women's Pathfinder Whole System Approach Service (March 2022). • Bi-annual Blueprint newsletter launched April 2022.
Early intervention & prevention	Take forward recommendation of the Women's Pathfinder Diversion Scheme Evaluation (University of South Wales, 2017) to implement Diversion Initiatives for women across Wales.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Roll out diversion via Women's Pathfinder Whole Systems Approach (WSA) Service Delivery Model across South Wales & Gwent, & Checkpoint Model across Dyfed Powys and North Wales. • Establish consistent out of court disposal options for women across Wales, including a mechanism for sharing learning and best practice from local diversionary initiatives. • Work with all providers including statutory, non-statutory, commissioners and voluntary sector to explore the full range of funding, polices and processes and identify ways to deliver prevention and early intervention with greater join up of support to service users. 	Medium-term (31.03.22)	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Diversion services are in place for women across each of the four police force areas in Wales. • South Wales and Gwent police forces areas delivering Out of Court Disposal pilot aimed at enhancing and expanding diversion opportunities in respect of low level, repeat offenders (revolving-door cohort). • The Early Intervention and Prevention workstream has representation from across the four police force areas and diversion partners to enable sharing of learning between statutory, non-statutory and voluntary sector partners. • Diversionary Services workshop held January 2021 to share learning around the different delivery models, and to start to explore polices and processes to deliver prevention and early intervention with greater join-up of support to service users. • Building on findings from diversionary workshops and from subsequent research evidence, engagement sessions held with stakeholders March 2022 to further develop vision for evolution of end to end, integrated service delivery model for women across Wales (incorporating diversion), based on learning gathered to date.
	Develop a holistic assessment to be offered to women who are not eligible for pre-court diversion at the earliest possible stage to identify the best means of supporting and meeting their needs.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Agree non- statutory holistic assessment that will be completed with women (eligible for Diversion or not) at first point of contact with the CJS. • In recognition that domestic abuse can be a driver to female offending, consideration will be given to how early intervention and prevention services can provide specialist services for women who disclose they are victims of Domestic Abuse at the first point of contact with the CJS. 	Medium - term (31.03.22)	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Scoping of existing assessments for women has been undertaken. Working with providers to develop a set of principles to underpin existing gender and trauma informed assessment processes. • Diversionary services in place for women across Wales. These services can provide information around local domestic abuse services that women can refer to. Many providers (e.g. Safer Wales, North Wales Women's Centre, Pobl) provide in-house services for victims of domestic abuse which women who are diverted are able to access. Blueprint team also linking in with work on VAWDASV strategy to understand current provision around specialist services for women who disclose they are victims of Domestic Abuse at the first point of contact with the CJS.
	Establish initiatives to better support girls, & potentially young women, at greatest risk of offending & therefore entering the CJS	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Explore opportunities to work with Education partners & other relevant services to identify opportunities for early intervention and prevention. • Explore opportunities to work in collaboration with Public Health Wales under their Creating a Healthier, Happier and Fairer Wales Strategic Plan 	Long-term (31.03.23)	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Established pilot with the Women's Pathfinder Whole System Approach to strengthen support for young females transitioning from youth to adult services in South Wales and Gwent.

		2017-20 to increase understanding of adversities facing women and girls and the impact on their life course. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Align work with the youth justice blueprint to ensure that the needs of girls and young women at risk of offending are appropriately considered in prevention and early intervention service plans. This will include ensuring that the complex vulnerabilities of females are reflected and incorporate learning from the Enhanced Case Management (ECM) approach piloted by Youth Justice. 		<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Commenced research to better understand the needs of young females transitioning from youth to adult services in Wales. Commissioned research project to identify early intervention opportunities for women in the criminal justice system who have experienced ACEs. Secured funding to establish a trauma practitioner role to work with women in the community, as a proof of concept. Provided funding to help build resilience amongst third sector organisations working with women who have experienced ACEs.
Courts & sentencing	Develop a clear understanding of current services available to women involved in the CJS in Wales, delivered by both statutory and non-statutory partners (devolved and non-devolved) in the community to reduce short term sentencing & remand	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Take into consideration findings from analysis of current sentencing trends (including Imprisonment in Wales: A Fact file Report undertaken by Dr R. Jones, 2018) across Wales to inform consultations with the courts and judiciary, that will seek to raise awareness of the needs of women, the services available, and in turn increase the confidence of sentencers in the options available. Work in partnership with Community Justice Cymru and wider voluntary sector to engage with courts across Wales to highlight good practice and options available in the community. 	Long - term (31.03.22)	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Established core data set to enable better monitoring of trends in relation to female custodial sentencing data in Wales. Data dashboard to be developed from spring 2022. Local women's service directories developed by HMPPS Women's Pathfinder Partnership Integration Co-ordinators. Produced and commenced delivery of sentencer engagement strategy across Wales from July 2021. This has included producing briefings and newsletters and delivering a series of engagement events aimed at raising awareness and confidence in community-based alternatives for women (where these can be considered as a viable alternative to custody), and delivering bespoke training to professionals working within the court context in Wales. This programme of engagement with court stakeholders across Wales will continue throughout 2022, through delivery of briefings, training and through provision of information around community options for women.
	Develop pre-sentence pathway that addresses the needs of women who come into contact with the Criminal Justice System.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Establish referral process in police custody or on remand for referring women not eligible for Diversion into pre-sentence support. Roll out of consistent use of Pre-Sentence Report checklist and EPF Tool across National Probation Service court establishments in Wales. Ensure that Information is made available at court for those summoned to court. Consider how women who are summoned directly to court are able to access opportunities to address their financial, childcare and wider support needs. In light of research undertaken by Dr Shona Minson (Safeguarding Children when Sentencing Mothers, 2018), explore options for how family circumstances informing sentencing proposals, including consideration for Child Impact Assessments (or Dependant Impact Assessments) prior to sentencing. 	Long - term (31.03.22)	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Women's Pathfinder whole system approach service in South Wales and Gwent accepts voluntary referrals for women who are at risk of entering the CJS (in addition to women already in the CJS). Brochure of support services for women developed to highlight pre-sentence support available to women (not eligible for diversion). This is due to be rolled out from March 2022. Pre-sentence report aide memoire for women rolled out across National Probation Service in Wales. Sentencer Fact Sheet for women currently in development to raise awareness of community-based options for women in Wales. 7 Multi-agency Women's Pathfinder Case Conferences in place across each probation delivery unit in Wales, which can be referred into by partner at any point in the criminal justice system, including pre-sentence stage.
	Establish range of suitable community alternatives to custody & remand.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Consideration of the use intensive alternatives to custody & bail options to address issues around accommodation, substance misuse and finance/debt.
