OK thanks – I think it's Claire isn't it? Is she back now? In which case I would suggest you have a chat with her (as Hywel's not around) to see if she's happy to go with in-person (as you all agree it probably should be). I would suggest we probably seek views from the main parties too in case there are logistical implications for them that we need to take into account. The sooner we can provide clarity the better to get it booked in.
