

Dear

ATISN 26581 - Cadw development of Guildhall Caernarfon

Thank you for your request which I received on 16 January 2026. You asked:

To date, how often have the mosaic interpretation panels been accessible to the public? Please provide all dates and details.

Access to the North Tower, and therefore the mosaic interpretation panels, was available on a Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday from the 23rd Sept 2025 until the 1st Nov 2025. This was possible by collection of a key from a nearby retail outlet and was advertised on the Cadw website.

To date, how often have the mosaic interpretation panels been accessible to private audiences/events? Please provide all dates and details.

No private audiences/events have taken place.

To date, how many bookings have there been for the apartments in the South Tower? Please provide full details of all financial payments to date received from guests booking these apartments.

To date, bookings for the apartments in the South Tower have not been available and therefore no financial payments have been received. We anticipate that bookings for the Porth Mawr apartments will open in the summer of 2026 once all the works have been completed.

To date, how often have the apartments in the South Tower been available to Cadw employees and their friends and families? Please provide full details of all financial payments to date received from guests booking these apartments.

The apartments have not, nor will they be, available to Cadw employees, their friends and families to use separately from the public rental arrangements. Once they open later in 2026, Cadw employees, their friends and families may apply through the rental system in the same way as any member of the public to use them.
