Management Control

You must have management control of the land to be planted on submission of your EoI and for the full duration of your contract.

Tenants

If you are a tenant, you must have agreement from your landlord to enter land into the scheme. You will not be eligible if you do not have agreement from your landlord for your proposed tree planting. Land held under a Grazing Licence is ineligible for this scheme.

Environmental Impact Assessment

To comply with the Environmental Impact Assessment (Forestry) Regulations the environmental impact of adjoining planting needs to be considered together with your new planting proposal. This includes woodland creation on your neighbours land. Adjoining land is defined as within 10m of your proposed tree planting.

The Threshold for the Environmental Impact Assessment (EIA) is 2ha where any part of the land is within a National Park or Area of Outstanding Natural Beauty (AONB), and 5ha for other non-sensitive areas. Any tree planting in the last 5 years adjoining the proposed woodland creation including neighbouring land will count towards this threshold.

If your proposed planting does not meet the EIA scheme eligibility you should consider applying to the Woodland Creation Planning Scheme.

Further information is available at Natural Resources Wales / Planning my forestry project

Is the area to be planted agriculturally improved?

Please see Protection of Potentially Sensitive Habitats at Section A - Site Assessment, of the Small Grants – Woodland Creation guidance for help in determining whether your land is agriculturally improved.

You will need to establish if there are any Priority Habitats or Sites of Importance for Nature Conservation on the area you wish to plant trees. If these are present on the areas you propose to plant then your proposed planting does not meet scheme eligibility requirements and your EoI will be rejected. You may still be able to apply to the Woodland Creation Planning Scheme instead so that a woodland creation plan can be developed with support from a registered Woodland Planner.

Consulting neighbours and individuals whose properties adjoin the proposed planting

You must have consulted with any individuals whose properties adjoin the new planting. Where neighbours have concerns that cannot be addressed, you will either need to alter the design to reach agreement before submitting your application, or alternatively, if there are no grounds for the objection, you can apply to the Woodland Creation Planning Scheme.

Methods of Planting

Please see Methods of Planting at Section A - Site Assessment, of the Small Grants – Woodland Creation guidance for help in determining whether your proposed method of planting will be eligible.

Planting must be carried out using manual planting, scarification, or inverted & hinge mounding. If you intend to carry out your proposed planting using an alternative method, your expression of interest will be ineligible.

Contract Conditions

Please see Section A - Site Assessment, of the Small Grants – Woodland Creation Guidance for help in assessing your proposed planting area in order to accurately answer the Contract Condition questions. Completion of these questions is mandatory.

Woodland Planting

The Woodland Planting page allows you to specify eligible areas of your land for planting under the scheme. Each individual planting area you create has its own linked fencing, gate creation options and water options applicable to just that planting area. You may have multiple planting areas, each with its own linked fencing and gate options and water options.

- Single left click the mouse to set the first point/node. Move the mouse and single left click again to drop a connecting node, and so on.

- Continue to drop connecting nodes until you have formed your planting area, then single left click on the start node or double left click to complete the area polygon.

- Note if you draw outside the extent of your registered land, shown in the example below left, when completing the polygon, the shape will be clipped back to the boundary as shown below right:

- Click Done when finished. The map will close and return to the Woodland Planting screen. An image will show the area you have drawn and show the area automatically measured by the system. It will also show a perimeter measurement in metres:
